Senior Class Prophecy

I, Mark Meyer, having just returned with my co-pilot Mike Deahl, from our third trans-universal journey decided it was time to look up our old classmates from N.B. The year is 1996, almost thirty years after graduation.

Rick Broughton and his running mate, Jo Lee Hamlin, are nominees of the Bull Mouse Party, with Rod Rister and Beverly Kidd supplying the opposition. I learned this from mayor Barb Woodward. We were taken on a tour of the town by Joe Schneider, newly appointed police chief and Jim Spittler, one of the Midwests wealthiest bankers.

N.B. had turned into a thriving metropolis of 200,000 people. Meeting the medical needs of the people were Gary Holbein and Ed Heilman, owners of competing pharmacies. Connie Stephens and Linda Hardwick are practicing nurses for the town physicians, Joe Gerdeman and Greg Rister.

I also learned that Jack Seibert and Wayne White had risen to great heights in the musical world. Continuing on our tour, we passed the newly constructed sports arena where Tom Dull and Bill Ross, known as Fremont the Great, are the undefeated tag team wrestling champions of the world.

On a previous trip, I had seen Lee Hooloway and George Ebersole on their experimental farm on the moon. While there, we witnessed a basketball game in which Doug Ebright and Jim Thompson led the visiting Earth team to a resounding victory.

Entering the newly established industrial park, I saw the Hanna and Straley Drum Factory, which was about to be taken over by Mary Troutner and Georgia Hoffsis. Next in sight was the Campbell, Kirchner Corporation, which was ready to replace GM as the world's leading automotive manufacturer. By the way, GM is now run by the triumvirate of Janice Grimes, Dea Swartz, and Ann Benard.

Passing from the park, I entered the fine arts pavilion, constructed by the engineering firm of Vaughn, Simon, and McCartney. On display were paintings by the worlds greatest artist, Gloria Chapman. Noted pianist, Carl Calderhead, was appearing alternately with Connie Conine, a well established soprano. And where would the "Gay Ninties" be without the music of Bob Smith, conductor of the North Baltimore pops orchestra, working with the renowned tuba player, Chuck Bretz.

To my dismay, I learned that Bob Grilliot, Bill Patterson, and Fred Thompson have just been drafted and sent overseas to help meet our commitment of 190 million men. Nancy Rayle and Carol Heller are also overseas, having replaced General Chuck Thompson. I learned this from Renee Tatham, editor of the N.B. Herald Tribune.

While viewing the business district, I decided to lunch at a fabulous Ron Moening restaurant, of which there are now over 1000. Jean King, Vickie Lindquist, and Deanna McCartney are running a beauty salon, next to Nancy Barringer's Pizza Palace.

From the N.B. launching pad, Dick DeWulf was being sent to an expedition on Mars. Nancy Davis and Donna Diebert are the new U.N. representatives, where Kay Smith is Secretary-General. As I left the city, I was presented a key by Mrs. North Baltimore, Virginia Clayton. As I boarded the outgoing jet clipper, I was greeted by the pilot, Diane Foltz.

Senior Class Will

- We, the members of the class of 1967, do hereby make our last will and testament to the underclassmen.
- We, Joe Gerdeman, Ed Heilman, and Greg Rister will our abilities to think of and carryout the best tricks and pranks to all our buddies. Remember guys, don't let them catch you.
- I, Nancy Barringer, will my locker and the ability to find it in the dark to Dan DeVaul. Just open up the door, count 10, and if nothing falls out, you have got the wrong locker.
- I, Nancy Rayle, will my stubborn locker to Connie Leimgruber. Hope she has better luck with it than I did.
- Bill Ross wills to Greg Wells all his skills and knowledge to win in wrestling. Put it to good use.
- I, Georgia Hoffsis, will all my guitar callouses to Sharon Franks.
- Jo Lee Hamlin wills her twister game to Mike Roach and Bill Bishop. Have fun.
- I, John Vaughn, will all my hair to the basketball team. They need some.
- Pattie Smith wills her bad temper and good sense of humor to Nancy Heller.
- I, Connie Conine, will my crackerjack giggle to Dawn Whitehead. You already have a good start, Dawn.
- Howard Campbell wills his comb to Mr. Miller.
- I, Mary Troutner, will my hatred for school to anyone who is bored enough to like it.
- I, Virginia Clayton, will Debbie Barringer all the headaches and problems of being head cheerleader. All you have to do is make it, Deb. Lots of luck.
- Deanna McCartney wills all her study halls to anyone who needs them.
- I, Barbara Woodward, will Kay McGarvey my comb which I drilled a hole in and put on a chain so I wouldn't lose it.
- I, Vickie Lindquist, will my intelligence to my sister. May she have as much good luck as I have had with it.
- Carol Heller wills her sex-appeal to her sister, Nancy. Put it to good use.
- I, Donna Diebert will my seat in government to Pam Kepling.
- I, Renee Tatham, will my height to Bobby Twining. Maybe you'll make the varsity basketball team.
- Dea Swartz will number 14 to Kay McGarvey. Maybe you will be able to live up to it.
- I, Jim Spitler, will my cat from anatomy class to anyone who wants it.
- Wayne White wills his trombone ability to Mike Swartz.
- I, Doug Ebright, will all my hair to Boots Ferguson.
- Rod Rister wills all his school missing excuses to anyone able to use them.
- I, Fred Thompson, will all my bad luck to Tim Pelton.
- I, Beverly Kidd, will all my trouble with boys to Pam Kepling.
- Chuck Thompson wills Mr. Hainens fun class to the juniors that are taking DECA.
- Don't let him give you all the answers on a test, do some for yourself.
- I, Ron Moening, will all my skills to skip out of school every day to all the juniors that need a rest.

Bob Smith wills the task of scraping Volkswagens off the windshield of his Chevy to Dave Stephens.

I, Chuck Bretz, will my goodnaturedness, good looks, good taste and superior intelligence to any underclassman with decrepit enough mental abilities to desire them.

I, Diane Foltz, will my 5' 3" and the student council to Dan DeVaul. Good Luck.

Carl Calderhead wills to the person having his locker, Mary Jane Atkins beside you. You will never get to class on time.

I, Mike Deahl, will all my athletic ability in sports to anyone who likes being a spectator.

I, Gary Holbein, will the humiliation and ridicule of owning a Volkswagen to Bill Bishop.

Dick DeWulf wills his ability to keep out of trouble in bookkeeping to John Feehan and Ted Long.

I, Joyce Bretz, will any junior who loves American history, as I did, my seat next year.

I, Bob Grilliott, will my broken-down locker to anybody who wants it.

Doug Hanna wills all his trouble with senior and sophomore girls to Mike Hosler.

I, Janice Grimes, will my superior intelligence and its accompanying ridicule to Beth Benard.

I, Mark Meyer, will my Bobby Kennedy speech impediment, along with my blank mind and clogged up nose to Bill Roberts.

Joe Schneider wills his self-control and common sense to Denny Moening.

I, Tom Dull, will my weight, size, and strength to Elbie Smith for the coming football season.

I, Bill Patterson, will my brains and brawn to Melvin Bauman.

Bill Straley wills all his broken drum sticks and seat in the dance band to Larry Roberts.

Nancy Davis wills her books to Sharon Bauman.

I, Ann Benard, will my nickname, "Tugboat Annie", to Anne Teatsorth. Wear it with pride.

George Ebersole wills his reckless driving ability to Bob Palmer.

I, Linda Hardwick, will my ability to get excellent grades to Pam Kepling.

Lee Holloway wills his small ears to "Wings" Patterson.

Bob Kirchner wills all the good times he has had at NBHS to all the juniors.

Jean King wills her great tan to Pam Waaland.

I, Tom McCartney, will my tremendous driving ability to Bob Palmer.

Kay Smith wills her good personality to anyone who wants it.

Connie Stephens wills her witch laugh to Marsha Hartigan.

I, Cindy Woodruff, will my ability to miss one day of school a week to Pam Kepling.
