All through life there have been so many things that are impersonal to us. We are only a social security number to the government and just another face in a large crowd. Although, the school we attend is something we think of as personal, there are even many things that are impersonal about it, such as our classrooms, our desks, and our books. But this year is personal; it is yours. This book will hold many high school memories for you, as well as your own cherished moments. Throughout this book there are places where your own memories can be put, because this is your own scrapbook. Do you remember ...

... dances

... close friends

... locker room talk

... smiling for the camera

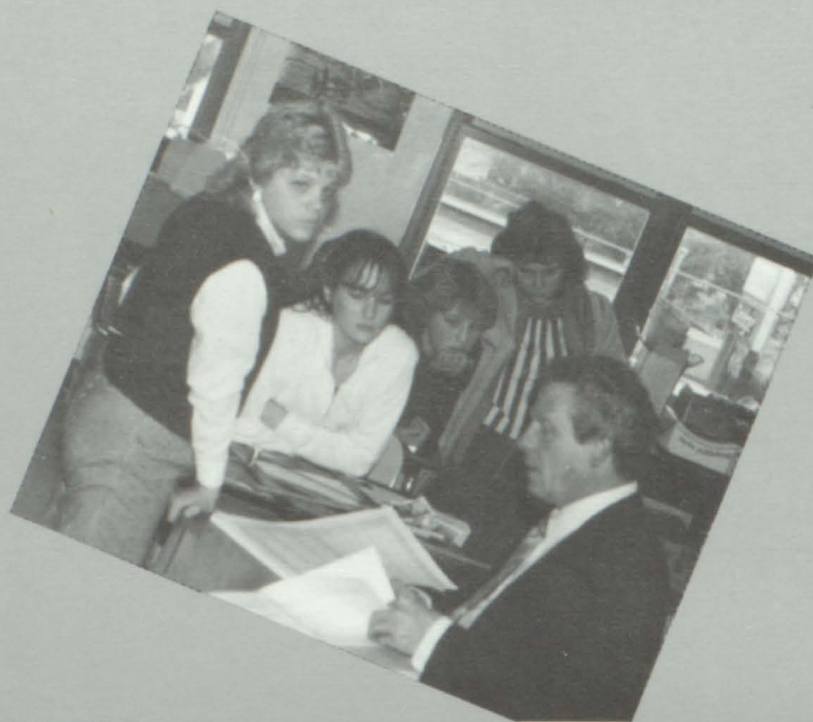

... making ice cream in physics class

... The screwy clocks and shaky PA system

... trying yearbook meetings

... long bus rides

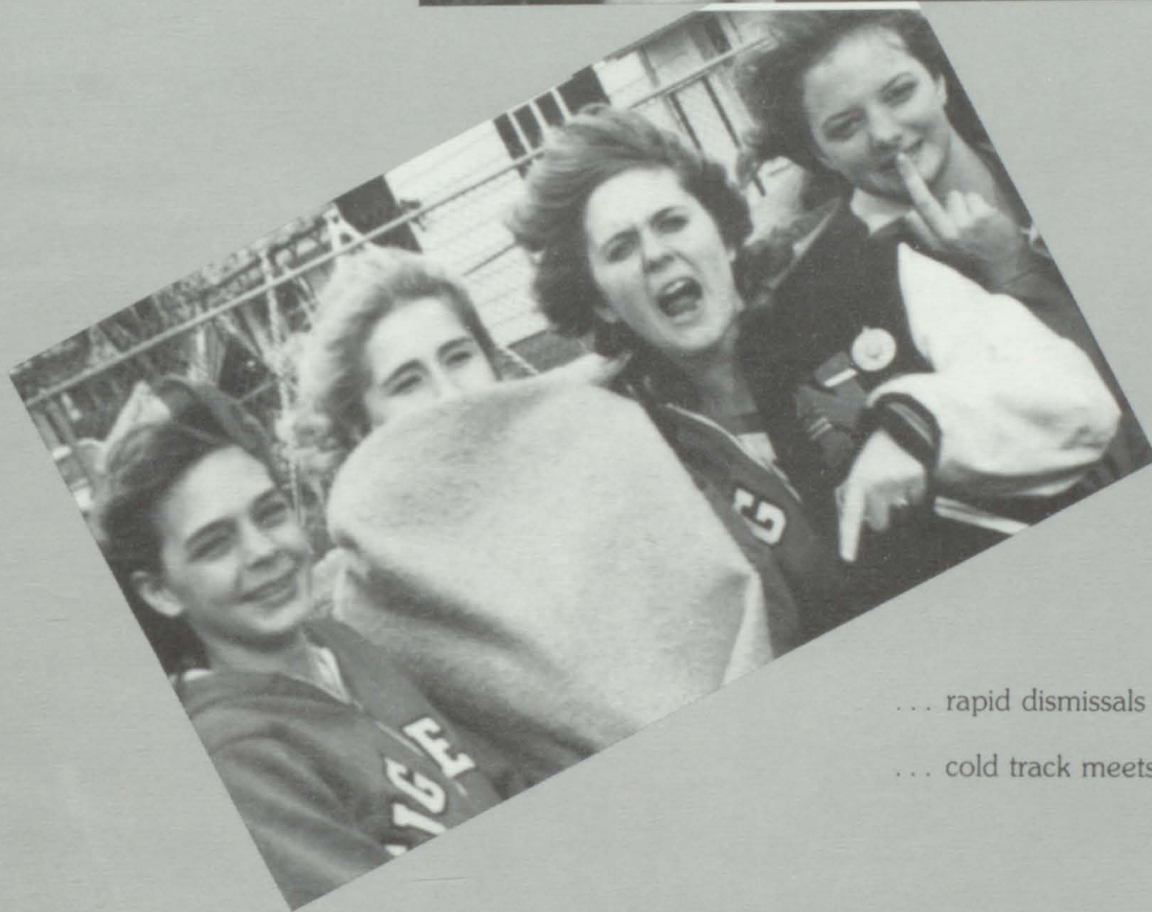

... stuck lockers

... working hard to raise money for your class

... long play practices

... lunch at the Daily Queen

... new-found spirit
... pizza at J.P.'s
... school delays

... rapid dismissals
... cold track meets

... cheering on our basketball team

... study hall

... hours of studying,
sometimes not enough

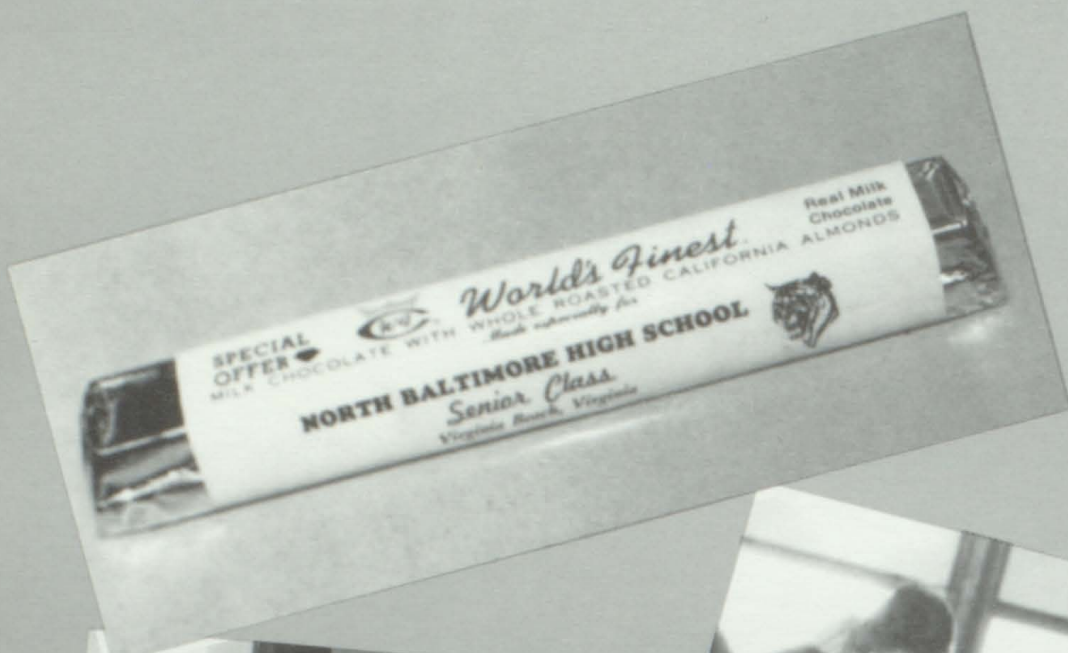

... band concerts

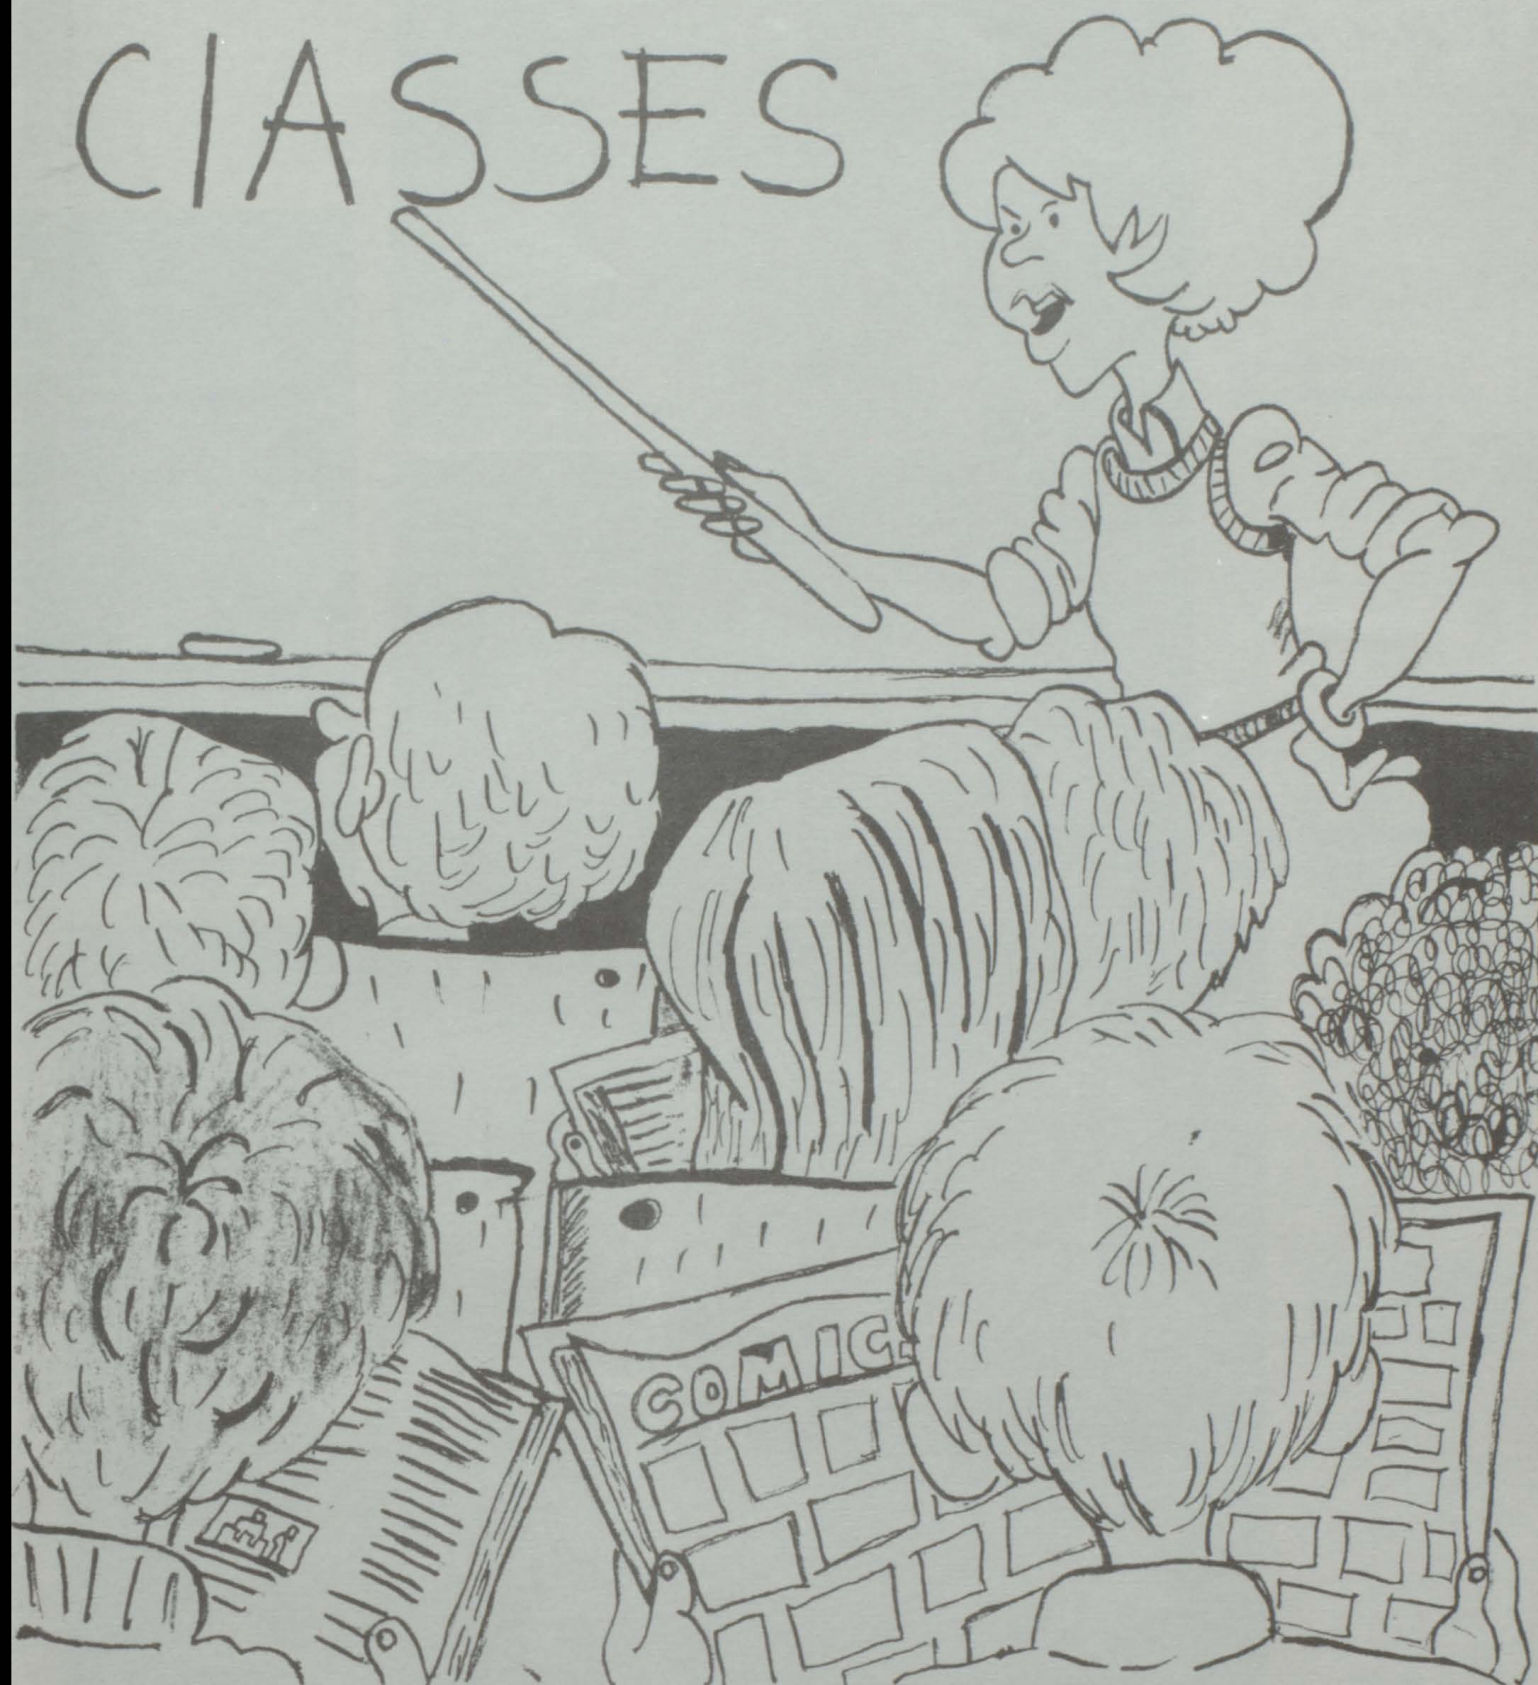

... prom

... pep rallies

Senior Wills

I, Jenny Hosler, being of sound mind and body will to my two brothers, Randy and Jeff, my determination to graduate.

I, Letha Hummel, being of sound mind and body, hereby will all my fun times with Harry to Kim Weaver and Steve Wright.

I, Harry Brumbaugh, being of sound mind and body, hereby will all my bad times with Letha to Rhonda and all of her boyfriends.

I, Chris Gerdeman, will my muscular arms and my bulging chest to Mr. Johnston. Keep lifting weights and running everyday, you might come close to my size.

I, Aaron Bowers, being of floor burned body and dented mind, will my amazing charge-taking ability to Chad Clayton, may he use this ability beyond that which is necessary.

I, Steve Carrier, being of burnt out mind and physically depleted body, will to Mike Trout the ability to play with the minds of both Laura Bishop and Tammy Nigh and to keep them both in line throughout the rest of his high school career.

I, Rydell Clere, being of muscular body and little mind, will my ability to tackle goal posts to Galen Gerig. May he dent it more than I did.

I, Russ Simmons, of soundless mind and body, will my air guitar to the living soul who has the utmost authority in recognizing its great ability and talents, but I do feel that this person should not mistreat its uses as I have in the past by using harsh movements through the hallways and interrupting classes, so in the event of this misfortune, good judgement and action should be taken.

I, Lyn Parsons, will to Michelle Conine the ability to adopt a little sis to carry on our family tradition.

I, Scott Carles, being of dirty mind and brutally beaten body, will my ability to fly-by-night to those who think they can live through it.

I, Lee McCartney, will my ability to destroy lab equipment in Mr. Bame's class to Kelly Smith.

I, Bev Peters, being of sound mind and body, will to Scott Cotterman and Doug Ebersole my cheerleading skirts so they can keep up the tradition and wear them next year when I'm not there.

I, Chim Smith, being of confused mind and great body, will my talent and ability to be the craziest person that I can possibly be to anyone that can live up to the responsibility of making people smile and have a good time without making any enemies.

I, Elaine Hall, will to anyone in Biology II, my ability to stomach those poor dead cats. Good luck and don't run the drill all the way through the skull.

I, Larry Stoner, being of sound mind and body, will my air guitar to Brit Williams.

I, Brian Dewulf, being of sound mind and body, will my ability of passing Physics without doing anything to the Physics class of 1985.

I, Denny Stemen, being of sound mind and body, will my seat on the Penta bus to Ronda Cameron.

I, Tim Smith, being of confused mind and nauseated body, will my ability to Mike Paul to play demolition man in the Sports Arena parking lot after a Def Leppard show.

I, Kevin Grilliot, being a senior, will my jam box to Ronda Cameron.

I, David Bowers, being of relatively sound mind and body, do hereby will the greatest military advance "The Mr. Lang Skyhook" to Dan Gerdeman.

I, Mike Dewulf, being of lost mind and body, will my ability to start my senior glide pattern at the beginning, not the end of your senior year, to the Junior class.

As I go, I, Jon Downs leave Mike Trout my everlasting good looks, Faron Harmon, my ever tuned lips to help out in the band. To Jeff Baney, my speed and overwhelming strength, and to Scott Cotterman, I will my height and agility in all basketball endeavors.
