How Do You Choose? Homecoming Royalty

As I sat in Mrs. Mason's publications class trying to think of a Homecoming story, I started wondering how my fellow students chose the girls to represent their classes for Homecoming. Here's what some of the student body said.

Chuck Johnson—"I hate to say it, but physical appearance is probably the most important thing. Of course, she has to at least be able to talk in complete sentences."

Jason Bushey—"A girl who's pretty and doesn't act like it."

Renee Rister—"Someone who is nice and doesn't think she's better than everyone else."

Jim Corbin—"Beauty and brains."

Will McCartney—"The way she acts around people. I wouldn't vote for her if she was snotty."

Kathy Feehan—"I think a person should get it because of their personality. A nice person."

Shelly Simon—"I don't think it should be based on popularity. I think it should be how she acts year-round."

By Lucretia Vandemark

Queen Shelley Gonyer and crown bearer Kelsey Nigh patiently await the big moment.

Humpty (Jen Hosler) sits on her wall (Carrie Mills) during costume day of spirit week.

Devilish Phil Reed prods the ever-holy Sister Michelle Smith on costume day.

Senior Powder Puff team basks in the glory of their victory.

Rudy turns on all the men (Erin Tong and Arica Bankey) on opposite sex day.

Senior girls are dressed for the occasion in Mrs. Mason's class on pajama day. Medieval literature gets 'em every time!

Duck (Suzie Kaltenbach), Alice (Amy Miller), Gryphon (Tina Overmyer), and Do Do (Jessie Carnicom) try to teach Alice a weird two-step.

Tweedle Dee (Carrie Mills) and Tweedle Dum (Amy Jackson) are two of a kind.

The caterpillar (Michelle Smith) waits for an answer. Mad Hatter (Lucy Vandemark) and March Hare (Jennifer Hosler) confuse each other. Cook (Denise Hosler) prepares to cook up a storm.

Alice consoles her cat.

White Rabbit (Jacob Swartz) lures Alice through the looking glass.

Humpty Dumpty (Kari Chapman), March Hare, King of Hearts (Tim Phillips), and Three of Clubs (Monica Tellez) prepare to bow.

Mike Lerma (voice), Queen of Hearts (Marcy Miklovic), and Mad Hatter take another bow.

Caterpillar and Alice have a little dispute.

Tweedle Dee, Alice, and Tweedle Dum aren't sure where they really are.

Above: Erin Garay and Joe Gerdeman do a bit of their own star gazing.

Barbie Brooks and Clark, a couple of romantics.

Tiffenee Nigh watches Tony Lennard do his best Garth Brooks.

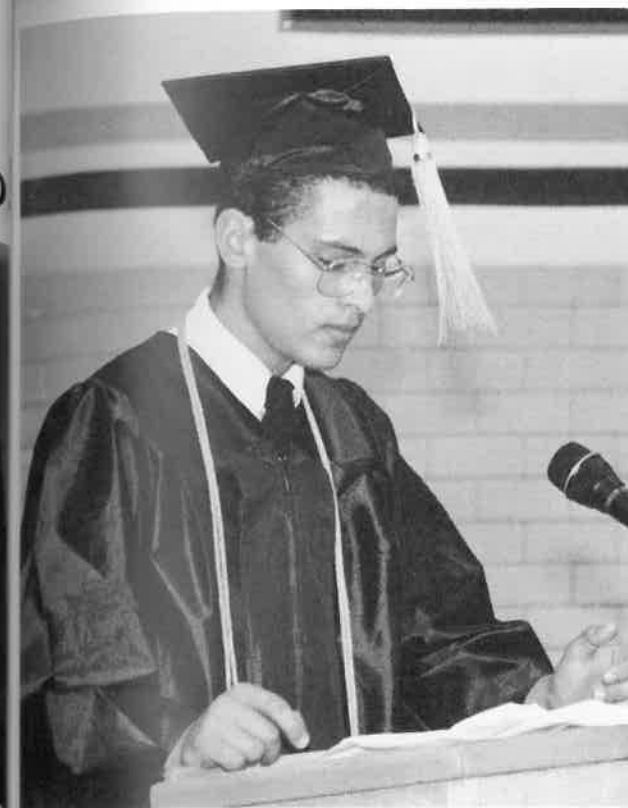

Dustin Current—"I don't want my mom driving my date and me everywhere."

'92, '92, Ninety, Ninety Ninety-two

Paula Beaupry and Jason Swartz—part of a Senior Class that cares about each other. John Feehan likes getting hugs from '92 graduates of the female persuasion.

Misty Roberts gets a shake of the hand from board of education president Jon Downs. Jimmy Johnson flashes the smile that makes him a legend at NB.

Number one senior Jason Swartz urges his classmates to keep on learning in an address on the future. Kim Althaus, second highest grade point average, discusses the present.

Center: Chorus members gather for one last song. Shelley Gonyer reminds fellow graduates of how far they've come since crayons and kindergarten. Chris Swartz accepts congratulations—and a diploma!

Lively Pops Concert Entertains Fans

Students in grades 7-12 sing and sign the grand finale, "Love in Any Language."

Where could you hear your favorite tunes made famous in TV commercials? Get a taste of what has made the musical "Phantom of the Opera" all the rave. Listen to solos from some home-grown talent. All for the price of—nothing!

Thanks, Director Amy Gorman and chorus kids, for another May evening of musical fun.

Stealing the show are the Silhouettes—including a high-pitched highlight by Corey Schwab, heartthrob of the senior girls.

High school chorus sings a tune from "Phantom of the Opera" (couple choreography by senior Brenda King). Soloists Ginger Wymer, Laura Shurtleff, and Dustin Current get a chance to sing their favorite tunes.

Time To ... Give!

It sounds so easy at first. Napping on a gurney. Talking to some cute nurses. Free food.

And then you see it—the NEEDLE. Suddenly the floor opens up. A kaleidoscope of colors dances before you. Knees buckle.

... when you come to, a sturdy figure in white stands beside your mom, who has been summoned to take her baby home.

Hey! Piece of cake!

NOTE: This experience compliments of your student council.
