Hats Off At NBHS

The baseball hat rage continued to stir up controversy at NB this year. Although hat fans could wear their favorites to and from school, anyone caught inside with one fell under the scrutiny of Mr. Reublin.

Sibling Rivalry

By Krista Sweet

Have you ever felt pressure to be like a brother or sister? Well, some students at this school do!

Sibling Rivalries in our school are very unavoidable. Jaime Boger says, "I don't like being in the same school with my sister because I am known as Joy Boger's sister. Also, because she's smart; everyone assumes that I am smart too!"

How can teachers possibly mistake one person for another? If this has ever happened to you, you will understand how Rhonda Trevino feels. "I don't mind being in school with Claudia, except when teachers call me Claudia, and we don't look anything alike!"

Overall, sibling rivalries aren't as bad as some people think. Each and every person is an individual and, as long as you look at yourself in that way, sibling rivalry will not be a factor in your life.

It takes a lot for one to be recognized for one's good qualities when he/she goes to a school brimming with so many excellent students. The 1992-93 school year was just another example of this truth. So many gifted and talented people attended NBHS, that it was nearly impossible to simply say which male and female were the best in their fields. I took the liberty of conducting the random survey of NBHS students (9-12) that allowed them to decide just who these individuals were. Students were given a sheet on which they could decide, once and for all, which NBHS schoolmates were the best dressed, best looking, smartest, etc. Here are the results of this important survey.

The Best Of The Best

Best Hair	Jason Doering/Holly Patterson
Best Dressed	Jason Doering/Holly Patterson
Best Looking	Adam Wymer/Holly Patterson
Funniest	Matt Gazarek/Kathy Feehan
Strongest	Nick Lamb/Ann Francisco
Smartest	Brian Gazarek/Carrie Mills
Most Athletic	Adam Wymer/Leanne Watkins
Best Couple	Tony Like and Molly Sterling
Cooldest	Adam Wymer/Holly Patterson
Weirdest	Phil Reed/Michelle Smith
