As the students of North Baltimore High School rushed into a new year they were stunned by the changes they were being forced to face. Our eyes saw new people and new spirit. But change went farther than faces. Students were happy to hold real elections this year, and student council got a little more serious. All the Academic Advisory classes were put into precincts, and each precinct had to vote for a Freshman/Sophomore as well as a Junior/Senior representative. Meanwhile, each class had their own elections for President, Vice President, Treasurer, and Secretary.

North Baltimore was fortunate to have many foreign exchange students this year. Two students moved to North Baltimore from the Netherlands, sophomore, Willem Van Rooijen and senior, Leonora Van Rooijen. JiYeon Kim joined us as a sophomore from Korea. One of our super seniors, Gustavo Pulcherio visited North Baltimore for the year from Brazil. We loved learning new words and new traditions from them. We also enjoyed showing them the American life.

North Baltimore High School also employed new teachers. Mr. Gilman took over for Ms. Christman, who refired last year. He is teaching Algebra I, Pre-Calculus, and Algebra Recitation. Mr. Ellis took over Physical Science for the sophomores, and also covers some study halls. We also got an additional art teacher, Mr. Archer, allowing the eighth graders to schedule art classes for the first time.

The whole school spirit at North Baltimore High School seemed to improve during football season. Our varsity football team was 5-5 this year. They also beat Carey for the first time since 1995. Friday's were a tradition for the students to dress up and support the football players by wearing orange and black. Some of our football players had their own traditions; Brandon Meyer would spray paint his hair orange and spike it up. The spirit also increased at the pep-rallies, where students were able to enjoy a new band, consisting of Tyler Simon (guitar), Jose Alvarez (drums), Eric Phillips (bass), and Jacob Searberry (vocals)

Andrew Williams's favorite season is fall! "The leaves are falling and football season is in full blast." Andrew says. "It's the best time of the year!"

North Baltimore High School's Favorite Seasons

Adam Emahiser thinks that football, parties, bon fires, hooded sweatshirts, and jeans make fall the best time of the year!

Mr. Hollenbaugh declares fall the best season of all by simply pointing out the smell, the cool air, and best of all, football! Andrew Straley is full of excitement when it comes to fall. "Halloween is filled with freaks, candy, and pranks! It's the best!"

more than any other season because leaves start turning colors and it rains, but not too much. Derek says, "It smells good in the fall. It isn't too hot or too cold, usually it's just right"

This year's Golf season started with new coaches, and with new coaches came new rules. Greg Frost took over as head coach; Adam Benedict became the assistant coach. They worked tougher practices, and work on every aspect of the golf game. In doing, so, more people improved their skills, such as Nick Benedict and Tyler Tatham.

Overall, more matches were won than last year. The team had more fun this year and competed against more female golfers than in previous years.

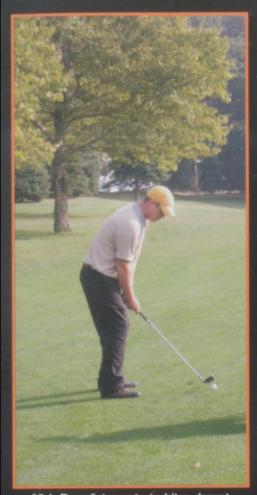

Matthew Phillips is hoping to hit the ball over the water so he doesn't have to take an extra stroke. He tries out his luck as he takes a swing at the Tiger Invitational. He ended up getting the ball over the water and taking a 3 on the hole.

Coach Greg Frost: "It was hard getting the team ready this year because I took the job at the last minute. I was very impressed with the team and how they improved. The season ended up being a success while finishing 7th place in the Tiger Invitational and 6th place in the MAL"

Seniors, Eric McEwen and Vanessa Gazarek show us their beautiful smiles. Eric was very excited about taking the picture because he got to be close to someone he loves. The picture was taken in the clubhouse at Briar Hill while they were waiting for the rest of their teammates to finish at the Tiger Invitational.

Nick Benedict wants to hit a decent second shot and try to get the ball on the green. He addresses the ball at the District Match in Clyde.

Tyler Tatham is hoping to get a good shot on this hole so that he has a perfect overall score. After he hits his shot at the Tiger Invitational, he watches his drive closely.

What was the funniest part of the golf season?

Eric McEwen: "The funniest parts were the bus rides home and watching Vanessa peel off her layers of clothing because it was so hot on the bus."

What was the funniest part of the golf season?

Tyler Krassow: "The bus rides home and coach Frost at practice saying he was going to stomp our brains out."

What was the funniest part of the golf season?

Luke Wymer: "When coach frost would get mad and start yelling. Especially the time when Tyler Krassow's cell phone went off in the match."

Tyler Krassow keeps his eye on the ball as he is about to drive it down the fairway at the Tiger Invitational. He is hoping to have a good score on hole #1.

Jared James feels that he is going to hit a good shot after he drives the ball. He is watching it fly in the air to its destination on the green at the Tiger Invitational. His shot did end up to be a good one, and it helped improve his score.

The 2004-2005 Volleyball season was something in our school that was full of changes. The girls went through changing the coaching staff in the middle of the season to getting some new players from JV. All the changes this season took a toll on the players, and in some of the games you could really see the girls were having problems. The girls who played this year tried very hard to please their teammates and their coach, and they accomplished both of those things.

"I enjoyed this season. These young ladies did everything that I asked and more. Whether it was at practice or at a game, they always gave me 110%. I look forward in coming back next year to coach

Full of anticipation, Sarah Phillips waits to see if the serve will come to her.

Whitney Hankins gives her partner another good pass.

"I will miss being able to hang out with the team and all the bonding we did. I will also miss the bus rides home listening to Audra tell all her Sarah stories."

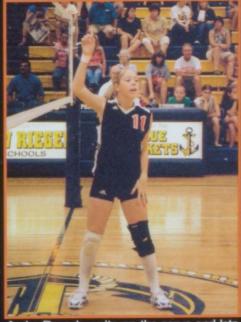

-Senior, Kellie Sterling

"To next year's seniors have a great year, make sure you have fun on all the bus rides and always keep coach on her toes!"
-Senior,
Brandy Thomas

Audra Rensch waits on the serve and lets her team know that she has first set.

"It was a fun experience to work with these girls. They were fun, energetic, and there was never a dull moment. They liked to keep you on your toes at all times. I saw a lot of improvement from the first day of practice to the end of the season. I hope they continue to work on all of their skills and move forward."

-8th grade coach, Kathi Bucher

Andrea Uhlenhake gets in position as she waits for the next serve to come her way.

Endurance. Strength. Speed. Three important ingredients that go into running 3.1 miles or a 5 k for cross country. Cross country though, no matter what, is more of a mental sport than physical. A person must really convince themselves that they can keep going. That no matter what hurts, or how bad they fall, they can pull through and finish.

When a person runs cross country, they go through obstacles such as running through mud, dirt, rain, wood chips, rocks, and over bails of hay. "We all seem to remember that one meet where you thought you were not going to make it, then you did. You felt so good about yourself afterwards," As coach Glamm would say, you had a "runners high."

Sara Glamm, Sabrina Snyder, Maddie Clark, and Sarah Seiler wait for the gun to sound so they can begin the race.

CROSS COUNTRY

The boys cross country team had 6 runners who worked hard to get in shape to represent NBHS. The highlights of the season were a 4th place finish at the Old Fort Invitational, a 3rd place finish at the Allen East Invitational, and 7th place in the MAL. Individually, junior Jeremy Schmidt was second team MAL despite nagging injuries during the season.

The girls team consisted of 8 runners and were an imporoved team over the previous year. The girls placed 4th at the Carey Invitational, 5th at the Allen East Invitational, and 9th at the MAL meet. The top performer for the girls was Maddie Clark who was Honorable Mention at MAL and a regional qualifier for the second year in a row. Three seniors, Sabrina Snyder, Sara Glamm, and Samantha Austin are graduating and will be hard to replace.

VIJV FOOTBALL

The football season experienced few changes along with some very impressive highlights: from starting the season 4 - 0, to Tyler Boyer breaking 2 school records in a single game. Also, Josh Eichar broke the single season defensive interception record. Eric Hutchison gained the award for Defensive Player of the Year in the Midland Athletic League. The biggest feat this year would be having a winning season, which is something that hasn't been done since the 1995 campaign. Most of all the relationships between players and coaches were fantatstic. "We were able to have fun and still work hard, and the players over achieved every Friday night," says Coach Dino Woodruff.

Ryan Bowman, Nick Benedict, Adam Emahiser, and Eric Phillips pose as they wait for Coach Woodruff to put them into the team scrimmage during a Thursday practice.

"Nice hit Meyer! What are you doing Tyler?" said Ryan Boyer, while Eric Hutchison is watching and being choked at the same time. Tyler is about to slap the guy on the wrist for trying to run against the Tiger Defense.

My most memorable moments were receiving Defensive Player of the Year in the MAL; almost beating the top ranked team in the state, Hopewell-Louden and going out for the coin toss against Calvert even thought I didn't get to play. - Senior Eric Hutchison

Tyler Boyer follows the fantastic blocking of the offensive line along with some help from other running backs. During the game, Tyler ran for 330 yards and scored 5 touchdowns, which are both school records. He gives all the credit to his offensive linemen.

The extremely stingy defense digs in for a tough game against Carey in which they were able to keep them from scoring.

As they get a cheer the kickoff team AKA "Blood Unit" gets a motivational speech from the captains to get everyone pumped up.

This year there have been many changes to the North Baltimore Schools. The specific change I want to tell you about is North Baltimore Middle School football team.

Jake Trevino was brought on to be a new coach for the team. Trevino replaced Coach Zeigler from last year. Gage Stewart said, "I liked coach Trevino because he was supportive of the team even if we lost."

The seventh graders this year had a tough year because they had to start and play against eighth graders. It must have been tough on them

As the team rushed to the line of scrimmage, Elias Simon was feeling pretty good untill he got tackled.

MS FOOTBALL

because the eighth graders were bigger than them.

Hollenbaugh said, "They did better than last year. I think the team could have done better if they had put their minds to it".

This year has not been that good of a success, but some how the team pulled through it. They enjoyed every minute when they played. The thing they liked the best is that they all got to play football.

The Seventh Graders were so pumped up because when they come back next year they are going to rule the field.

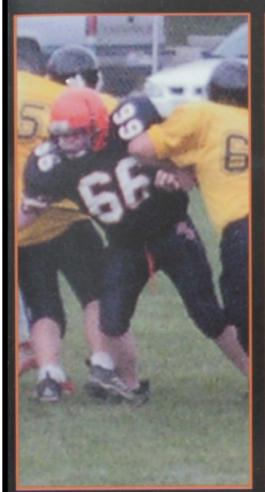

We were regrouping so coach Eichar could tell the players a knock-knock joke to relax them.

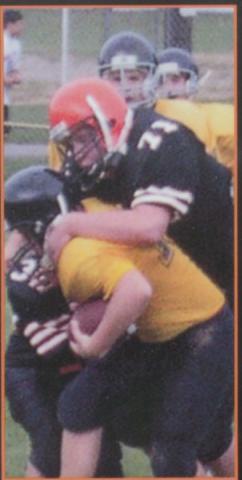

Coach Eichar was trying to get Coach Trevino to suit up and play the game so they could win.

Nathan Alvarez thought that the opponent was going to make a touchdown so he tripped him up for a tackle, and Mohawk did not score.

Elias Simon moved to make a tackle. However, he got tackled in the process.

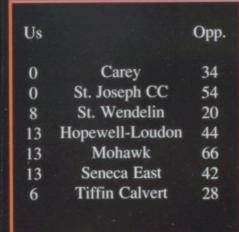

Andrew Dick is trying to tackle the kid so they didn't lose a yard. "Stuffed behind the line"

Brian Waaland said, "What I liked about this season was the perfect score we had. All year I really had fun with my teammates."

Gage Stewart said, "This Season was not what I expected. I think it could have been better. Over all I still had fun with the team."

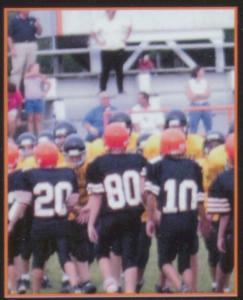

Jordan Eichar said "We lost quite a few games but we still played as a team."

Jordan Eichar was so excited he got to run the ball on a 15 yard pass.

After the game the Tigers showed sportsmanship by shaking hands with the other team to congratulate them. Even though they lost, the Tigers still worked hard at defense.

This year all 3 cheerleading squads faced drastic changes. Last year each girl had to purchase her own uniform. This year the athletic boosters considered cheerleading a sport and no longer a club. The school purchased uniforms, jackets and supplies for the cheerleaders. At the North Baltimore Good Ole Summertime festival the girls hosted a cheerleading competition. In order to look the same they each purchased their own uniform until the new uniforms came in.

Along with cheerleading being considered a sport, there are also new rules in place for the cheerleaders. Dress code has been changed this year. No cheerleader is allowed to wear nail polish on finger nails

Senior, Mallory Perry and Junior, Jackie Swartz hold on tight to the wooden posts of their run through sign as the tiger football team charges through. The day before each home game the JV and Varsity cheerleading squad get together to create their run through sign for the football players. The sign takes 45 minutes to an hour to create.

VVVMS CHEERLEADING

during performances. Also each game day they must wear their uniforms to school with an undershirt. This year they must be in full uniforms during the game opposed to last year when you could just change at the last quarter. The advisor of the Varsity and JV teams also made some changes. Coach Angie Swartz requests each cheerleader to bring a notebook to practice. The girls need the notebook to write down notes from their coach. If they do not have the notebook they have to run a full lap.

The middle school squad was led by Coach Stephanie Fransisco and assistant coach, senior Ashley McEwen. This year the squad had an outstanding number of 21 cheerleaders. Each girl had an equal chance to be on the squad because there are no longer tryouts for the middle school.

Showing off their Tiger pride; Heather King, Mallory Perry, Lacie Orians, Barbra Hartman and Stephenie Miller take time and smile for the camera. Before the game each girl must have her hair up in a black, white or orange ribbon in order to follow dress code.

Senior, Mallory Perry has been a cheer-leader since the fourth grade. This is her last year on the squad and this year she has noticed some drastic changes.

Mallory feels that the difference between last year and this year is the younger squad. This year's freshmen were allowed to make varsity squad opposed to last year when you could only make JV.
