

BUSINESS

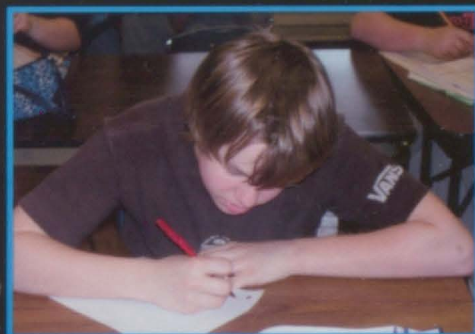

Mr. Daniels had few changes for the business classes this school year. He maintained three classes each semester. The classes were offered first, fourth, and fifth periods. The students who chose to take a business class found themselves using their class time to help prepare them for life after high school. They learned that there is more to the business world than just getting and keeping a job. In class the students learned many different things, such as how to maintain a checkbook, work and read stock reports, as well as how to buy, maintain, and sell a home. The students who took business this year were happy with the things they learned and felt they got what they needed to help them with life after high school.

Josh Eichar and Matt DeVaul sit together in their business class and give all their attention to what is going on in the movie "Forrest Gump".

Robbie Hamlin sits back as he reads the required information out of his business book.

Drew DeWulf works hard as he focused on the assignment for the day.

Zach Engard and Wade Ishmael both listen closely in Mr. Daniel's 4th period Business class.

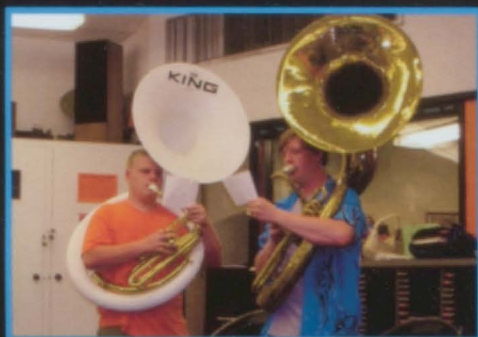

Bethany Cramer concentrates on getting her work done by the end of the class period.

CONCERT BAND

Mr. Kozina and the Concert Band practice in order to sound their best for an upcoming concert.

J.T. Sharninghouse and Kevin Bean work together to make the baritones' part of the song sound great for the concert.

Ji Yeon Kim, one of the exchange students this year, took part in Concert Band by playing the bells.

The Flute section practiced playing together and making themselves heard over the saxophones.

Concert Band had three performances ranging from December to May with the finale on the 17th of May in which they received a standing ovation. The Concert Band currently has 55 members with 28 Woodwinds, 17 Brass, and 10 Percussionists. Some of this years favorite repertoire included Kinesis, Dies Irae, Stars and Stripes Forever, The Sound of Music, and last but not least, Cats.

Larissa Wymer and Drew North play their best for the final Band Concert of the 2004-2005 year.

CONSUMER TECH

The Family and Consumer Science classes have been very busy this school year. The common theme taught in all of Ms. Brown's classes is Service Learning. The Nutrition and Wellness classes went to the Salvation Army Church and packed boxes of food for families at Christmas time. Ms. Brown's Family Relations class wrote teacher appreciation letters and made gifts for all of the teachers this year.

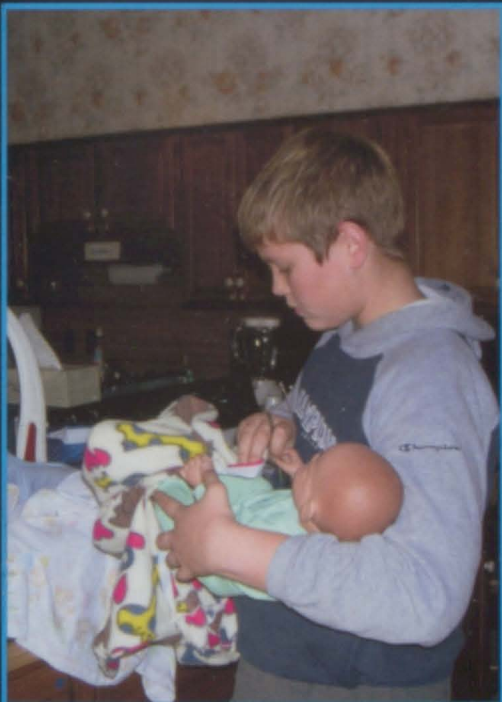

The Second Semester classes sponsored a "Habitat for Humanity" house and showered the family with gifts for their new home. The Parenting class went to Powell Elementary as volunteers for "Just for Fun Day" to help with the children. All classes sponsored a toy drive for the "Charley's Angels Project". The toys went to families that were affected by Hurricane Charley.

Brandon Meyer and Bri Rensch work together in Nutrition and Wellness. This class taught them how to cook many different dishes.

Megan Williams decides if the "Baby Think it Over" is going to be a fun experience or a hard one.

Brian Leimgruber learns how to take care of the "Baby Think it Over" that each student had to take home for the night so they could experience the tremendous amount of work that a child really is.

James Chaffin does his usual chore of washing dishes after he and his group are finished cooking.

Courtney Simon and Michael Boyce are putting a lot of hard work into their delicious meal and can't wait to see if it paid off.

HEALTH & P.E.

There has been many changes during the 2004-2005 school year. P.E, however, never seems to change. A few people liked the changes that occurred this year, but most students did not. Many students were happy that gym class didn't change because it is a class they could play around in and not worry about homework.

Another change that has occurred this year is that Mr. Mulholland returned to teaching Health after a several year break. When asked if he liked teaching Health, Mr. Mulholland said, "It can be enjoyable." The students enjoyed Mr. Mulholland's company and most thought he was really fun.

Kyle Lauck, Andrew Solarik, and Logan Spangenberg are interested in what Mr. Mulholland is teaching in Health class.

Brian Waaland takes notes in his sixth period Health class. Brian says that he likes this class because it's not too hard to learn.

"My favorite thing about gym is the competition. Even though the games don't matter, everyone still wants to win. While we're playing we're all business, but when we step off the court, we can laugh and joke about the moment," says Freshman Andrew Williams.

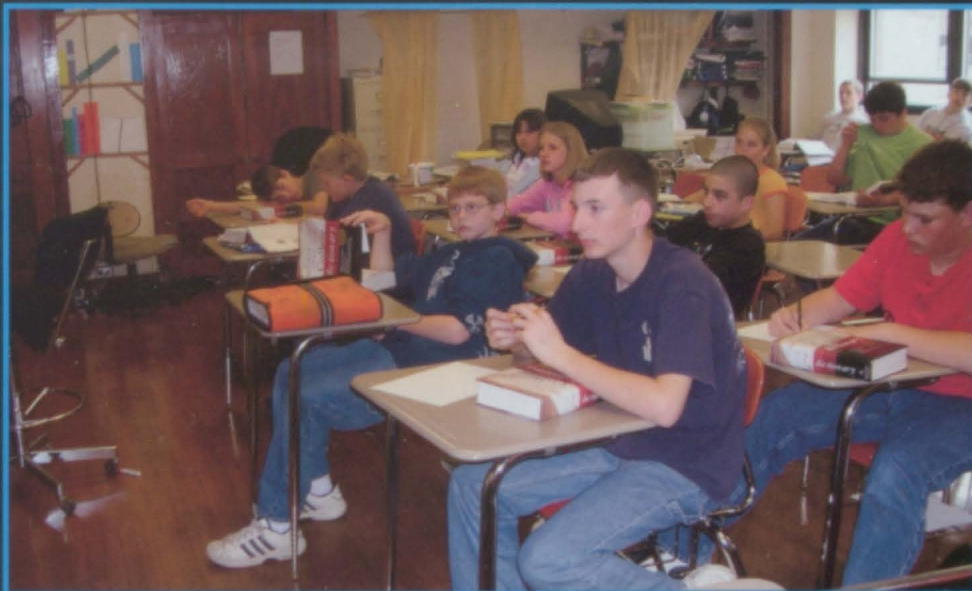

When asked what she liked most about gym class, Brittany Espen said, "It's fun because you don't have homework and it gives you something fun to do instead of reading books." Johnathon Taft says that his favorite thing about gym is dodge ball.

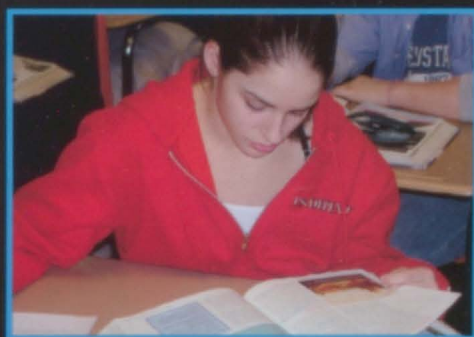

LANGUAGE ARTS

This year many changes have occurred in the department of Language Arts. Many students discovered that Mrs. Wronkovich-Clark was no longer teaching Senior Language Arts but instead Junior and Sophomore Language Arts. Mrs. Sanford took over the Freshman and Senior Language Arts classes this school year.

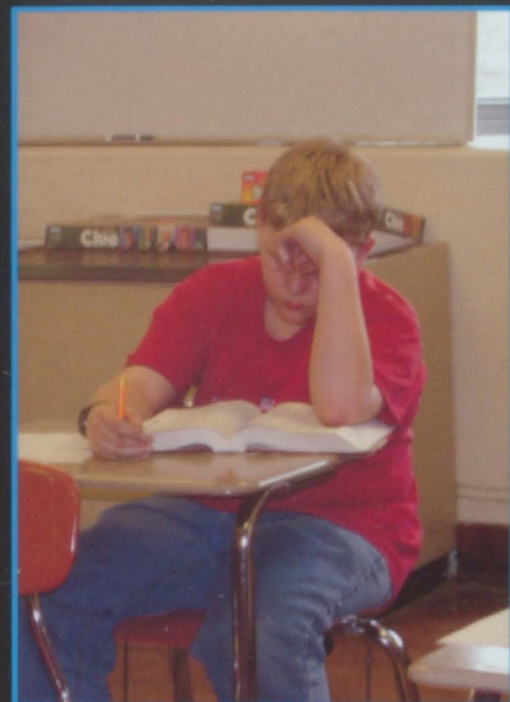

Also new this year were the requirements for College Prep Language Arts. Students who wanted to be a part of this program were required to do summer reading and also write reviews on the books that they read. As you can see, a lot more was expected of these college prep students. Students should anticipate more changes starting next fall in the Language Arts department.

Brooke Beiswenger tries to focus her attention on her Language Arts book in Mrs. Matthes's class.

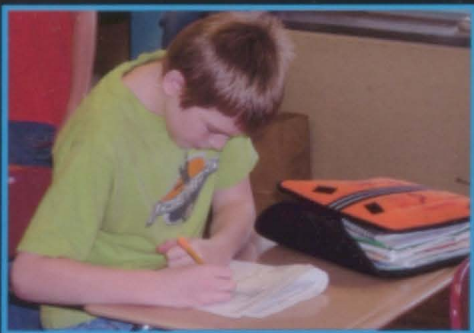

For many Language Arts students Wednesdays meant Sustained Silent Reading Day. John Trout kicks back and reads his book in Mrs. Wronkovich-Clark's Language Arts class.

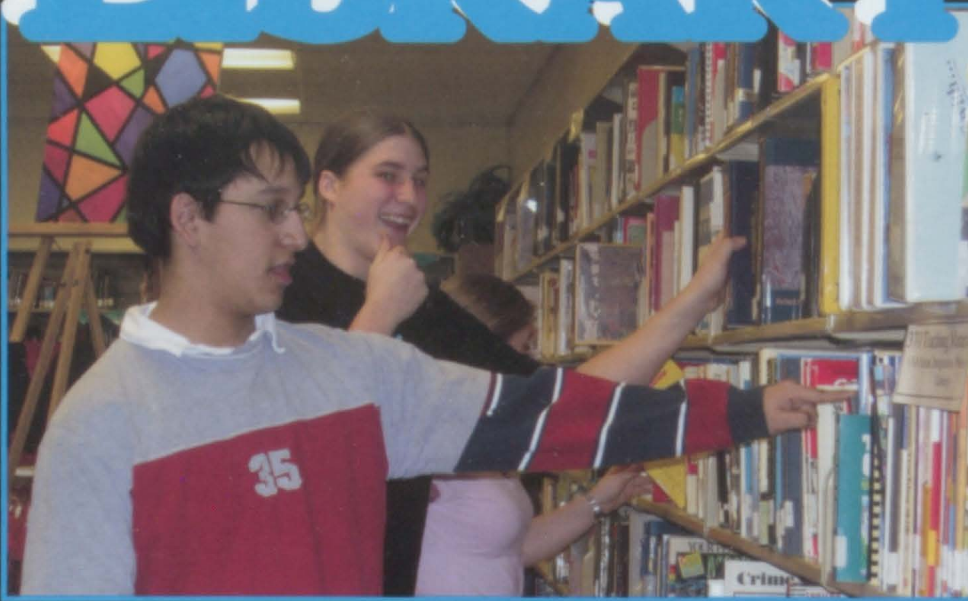

Focusing hard on his reading book, Terry Crill rests his head on his hand for awhile during Mrs. Neumanns reading class.

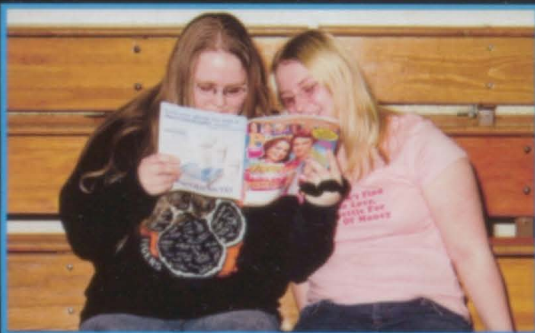

Writing very quickly, Logan Smith tries to finish his homework before Mrs. Matthes comes and collects it.

LIBRARY

Reuben, David, and Jenna help each other look up a book to read for silent reading.

The school's librarian aids, Jocelyn Buchler and Stacy Rock show their dedication for reading.

Kasey Buckmiller and Eli Coppock work hard getting their homework done in the school's library.

Steven Kruse graps his favorite maga-zine off the library's shelf.

There were few changes in the North Baltimore High School library. One of the newest things in the library was the "teacher and students pick shelves." This shelf had the choices of teachers and students favorite books. The main theme of the library was "Vacation in a book" where Mrs. Powell decorated the room with a palm tree in the middle of the room and beach towels and floating devices on top of the book shelves. Another new thing in the library was the displays of art in the room. There were also more computers in the room. There were not any new ones this year though. The library also received a new copy machine. When Mrs. Powell went to a conference in Indianapolis she brought back almost a thousand books for the library. This included new magazines.

Bethany Cramer relaxes in a good book by laying down on the library floor.

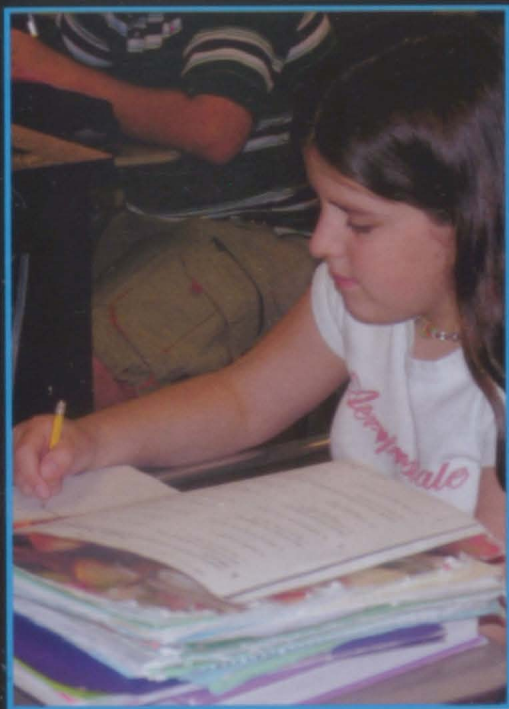

Whitney Hankins searches for a book that she needs for an English paper.

MATH

Let's focus into the math rooms for some few changes. With the sadness of Mrs. Christman leaving us last year we were able to look forward with a new welcoming of Seth Gilman. Mr. Gilman is currently teaching Pre-cal and Algebra I. When asking Mr. Gilman for improvements for next year he laughed with a reply, "More people need to be more prepared, with pencils and paper and ready to learn." Mr. Gilman also replied to me with a positive attitude when asking him what it was like working here. This year the math department was able to receive new OGT calculators. The Juniors and Seniors were also able to take the great opportunity to take practice college placement tests in the field of math. The Junior High students weren't opposed to many changes as well this year.

The Math Club First Row: Ryan Boyer, Lee Baltz, Eric Hutchison, Vanessa Gazarek, Jackie Swartz, Amber Noykos. SECOND ROW: Noortje Van Rooijen, Maria Huff, Sara Glamm, Mason Cheney, Brandon Meyer, Dave Wienzkowski, Mallory Perry, and Michelle Williams.

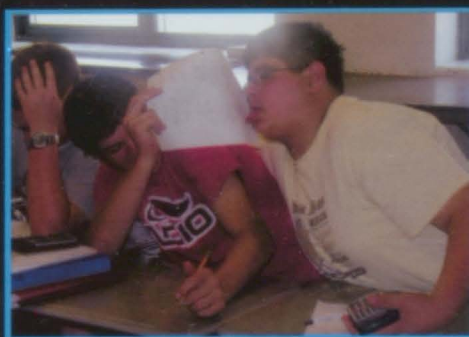

Jessica Williams takes notes to stay focused in Mrs. Tarney-Reed's math class.

Kyla Katherns focuses into her Algebra II while answering a tough equation problem.

Jose Alvarez shows his affection for math to Cory Herr.

Kelsey Nigh calculates a problem during her math class with Mr. Rowlinson.

CHOIR

FRONT ROW: Cassandra Crill, Jackie Swartz, Sarah Phillips, Jesse Herman, Jenna Swartz, Lindsay Henry. SECOND ROW: Michelle Williams, Elizabeth Henry, Allison Smith, Jared James, Jacob Scarberry, Michael Ishmael, Rachel Ernest, Ji Yeon Kim. BACK ROW: Jessica Kytte, Kyla Kathrens, Libby Julien, Cory Bateson, Alex Hogan, Shara Rowland, Michelle Richardson and Stacy Rock.

Choir had a great year filled with fun and drama. The choir's performances included some acting in every concert. The Pops concert was moved from the end of the year performance to the beginning of the year. Libby Julien and Jessica Kytte performed "If Mamma Was Married" from the musical Gypsy.

Jared James received the Director's award. This award is presented to a freshman for leadership and singing abilities. The choir department also had four choir students make the Honors Choir. The National Choir award was presented to senior Jocelyn Buchler who had participated in choir all four years of high school.

Choir students ended the year on a sad note when they learned that Mr. Johnson had decided not to return to North Baltimore next year. We wish him all the best.

Jacob Scarberry performs his hit song, "Wonderwall" by Oasis, for his first time live in front of an auditorium full of screaming fans.

Sarah Phillips and Alex Hogan hit the notes like never before, performing "Silver Bells".

Ji Yeon Kim warms up for her big performance.

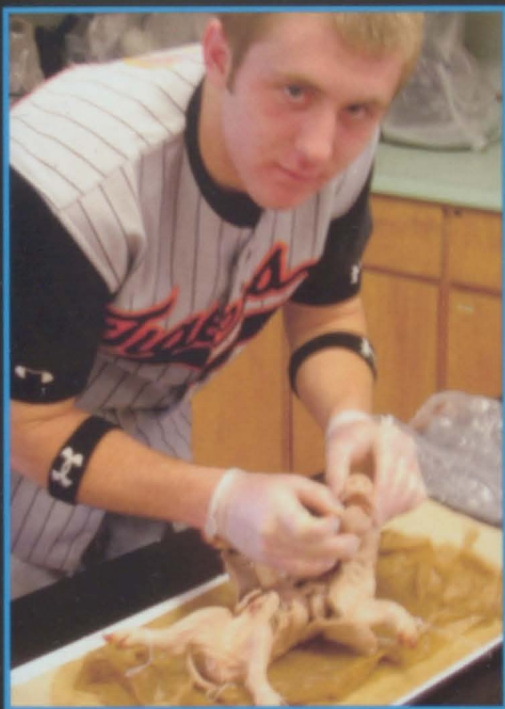

Cory Bateson, Alex Hogan, Jared James and Michael Ishmael present the theme song to "The Brady Bunch" at their last choir concert of the year.

SCIENCE

This year's science students were able to "sharpen" their skills with opportunities to dissect many species. Many Biology II students dissected earthworms, frogs, and a pig; while many chemistry students focused more on labs and tests. A change in the field of science was the addition of new teacher, Mr. Neal Ellis. Mr. Ellis took over and taught Physical Science for sophomores. Former Physical Science teacher, Mr. Mulholland, stopped teaching physical science to fill the role of Athletic Director and support our great teams. He's still teaching Physics and Chemistry.

Elizabeth Gilles and Bethany Cramer get wet during their trip to the creek, sifting through stones and dirt to search for crayfish.

Jeremy Schmidt and friend, Pinky the pig smile BIG while spending a long day in the Bio room.

Eric Lambert demonstrates his science project while the class waits for a speaker in Mrs. Smith's room.

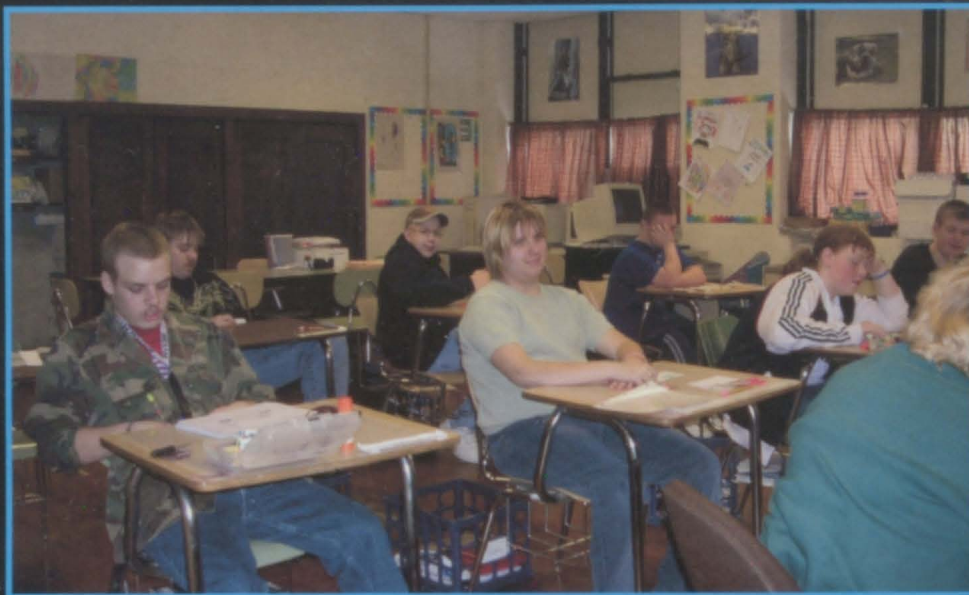

Chris Miller focuses while trying to cut a large earthworm's intestine.

Cynthia Lopez and Ella Houck pose for a picture while dissecting a frog.

SPECIAL NEEDS

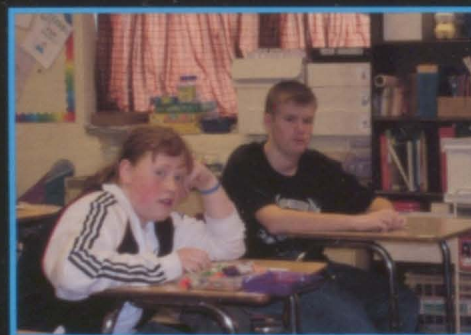

Special needs students met new classmates, faced new challenges, and prepared to learn many new skills as the school year began. Joel Pruden joined Mrs. Doty's class as a new student. T students learned many life skills throughout the school year. The Special Needs class had many recreational activities they participated in such as swimming twice a month and bowling monthly where they had a lot of fun together. On May 24, 2005, the class went to Wood Lane School for a "Fun Fitness Day."

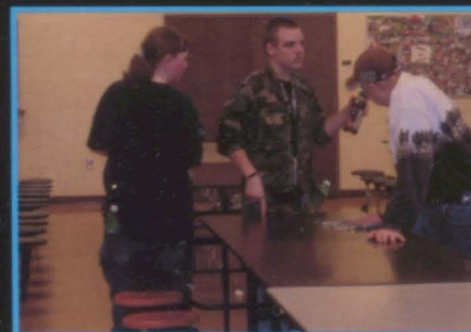

Each day students followed a schedule which listed the skills they were to accomplish. The students enjoyed Mrs. Doty's teaching. They also liked interacting with the middle school and high school students and made many new friends.

Kayla Crampton said, "I had a lot of fun learning in this class because Mrs. Doty is so much fun. I have learned many things and hope I can achieve more in the future."

Cody Fleckner said, "This is the best class I have ever been in because I have fun with everyone and get along with my classmates."

Kayla Crampton, Matt Drummond, and Joel Pruden take their time cleaning tables after lunch, avoiding returning to class and assignments.

Joel Pruden helps out in the office sorting the mail and placing it in the teachers' mailboxes.

Joel stated, "I have a lot of fun doing this kind of work because everyone in the office is nice to me."

CLUBS

Office Workers

FRONT ROW: Stormi Eaken, Kelsey Nigh, Bri Rensch, Bethany Cramer, Kyla Kathrens, Michelle Williams, Cassie Shope.
BACK ROW: Jen Kaltenbach, April Julien, Marissa Castillo, Jenna Swartz, Mallory Perry, and Maria Huff.

Flag Corps

(Left) Krista Noykos, and Michelle Richardson
Not Pictured: Kristen Davidson.

Twirlers

(Right) Amanda Simon, Kelli Kreisher, Monica Marsh, and Stacy Rock.

National Honor Society

FRONT ROW: Maddie Clark, Sabrina Snyder, Cassie Deerwester, Bri Rensch, Sara Glamm, Jackie Swartz, Vanessa Gazarek, Jessica Kyttille.
BACK ROW: Molly Allison, Larissa Wymer, Marissa Castillo, David Uhlenhake, Drew North, Michelle Williams, Caitria Clark, and Michelle Richardson.

National Junior Honor Society

FRONT ROW: Andrea Uhlenhake, Kirsten Bowers, Kylan Clark, Jacob Flores.
SECOND ROW: Chelsea Savage, Brittany Vanaman, Jennie Povermire, Corinne Savage.
THIRD ROW: Valerie Stearns, Jessica Williams, Miranda Deerwester, Tierra Huitt, Megan Williams.
BACK ROW: Corey North, Cody Boyer, Evan Shank, Logan Spangenberg, and Jordan Eichar.

Art Club

FRONT ROW: Kaycee Naumann, Eric Phillips, Mason Cheney, Eric Hutchison, Brandy Thomas, Josh Eichar, Mallory Perry, Sara Glamm.
SECOND ROW: Tyra Woodruff, Michelle Richardson, Elizabeth Gilles, Kyla Kathrens, Beth Wheeler, Audra Rensch, Vanessa Gazarek, Amber Noykos, Adam Emahiser.
THIRD ROW: Eric McEwen, Randall Rayle, Renee Williams, Kristan Bucher, Eli Coppock, Larissa Wymer, Libby Julien, Drew DeWulf.
BACK ROW: Mrs. Coppock, Baley Delancy, April Julien, Jen Kaltenbach, Brittany Trevino, Heather King, Dustin Tackett, Abbi Spangenberg, and Barbra Hartman.

CLUBS

Ohio Reads

FRONT ROW: Caitria Clark, Samantha Austin, Jackie Swartz, Sabrina Snyder.

BACK ROW: Sara Glamm, Audra Rensch, Drew North, and Vanessa Gazarek.

Teen Institute

FRONT ROW: Michelle Richardson, Tyra Woodruff, Cassie Deerwester, Krysta Wright, Krista Noykos.

MIDDLE ROW: Kasey Buckmiller, Reuben Torres, Jessica Kyttle, Caitria Clark, Jocelyn Buchler.

BACK ROW: Mrs. Leslie Head, Brandon Meyer, Kyle Richardson, Stacy Rock, and Cassandra Crill.

Junior High Teen Institute

FRONT ROW: Holli Cramer, Penny Rayle, Alyssa Phillips, Brianna Cole, Jessica Simon.

MIDDLE ROW: Megan Moser, Danielle Marsh, Jacob Gillen, Taz Woodruff, Michelle Cser.

BACK ROW: Mrs. Leslie Head, Sean Williams, Michael Cramer, Travis McCurdy, Cassandra Shope, and Kim Karosa.

Flag Honor Guard

FRONT ROW: Matt Drummond, Joel Pruden, Jake Essinger, Cody Fleckner.

BACK ROW: Kayla Crampton, Mrs. Terrie Hartzler, Mr. Gary Batchelder, Ms. Amanda Doty, and Dusty Tefft.

Students Active in Education

FRONT ROW: Allyson Smith, Heather Noykos, Megan Spence, Krysta Wright, Larissa Wymer, Caitria Clark.

MIDDLE ROW: Kelsey Nigh, Jennifer Kaltenbach, April Julien, Molly Allison, Jenna Swartz, Michelle Richardson, Stacy Rock.

BACK ROW: Bethany Cramer, Bri Rensch, Michelle Williams, Kyla Kathrens, Eli Coppock, Josh Eichar, and Mallory Perry.

CLUBS

Tri-M

FRONT ROW: Sarah Phillips, Jackie Swartz, Sabrina Snyder, Jenna Swartz, Maddie Clark, Melissa Leimgruber, and Larissa Wymer.
SECOND ROW: Michelle Williams, Jared James, David Uhlenhake, Kevin Bean, Drew North, Aryn Bucher.
BACK ROW: Jessica Kytte, Caitria Clark, Cassandra Crill, Michelle Richardson.

Newspaper

(Left) Jennie Povenmire, Michelle Richardson, Stacy Rock, and Jocelyn Buchler.

Safety Patrol

(Right) Austin Herrig, Mike Cramer, Kayte Davidson, Nathan Alvarez, and Tyler Crill.

Drama Club

FRONT ROW: Jennie Povenmire, April Julien, Jenna Swartz, Libby Julien, Larissa Wymer, Caitria Clark, Jessica Kytte.
SECOND ROW: Kevin Bean, Kylan Clark, Drew North, David Uhlenhake, Eric Phillips, Jocelyn Buchler.
THIRD ROW: J.T. Sharninghouse, Drew DeWulf, Alex Hogan, Jared James, Eli Coppock.
BACK ROW: Brian Leimgruber and Cory Lang.

Jazz Band

FRONT ROW: Corey North, Kelsei Stefanka, Jennifer Noykos, Kali Findley, April Julien, Jenna Swartz, Larissa Wymer, Caitria Clark, Libby Julien.
SECOND ROW: Jeffrey Senecal, Phillip Stefanka, Kevin Bean, Drew North, Eric McEwen, Jacob Flores, Jonathon Routzon.
BACK ROW: Tyler Simon, Kylan Clark, Monica Marsh, Eli Simon, Maddie Clark, Eli Coppock, and David Uhlenhake.

Quiz Bowl

FRONT ROW: Holli Cramer, Jessie Gazarek, Kali Findley, Jennie Povenmire.
SECOND ROW: Jeffrey Senecal, Kylan Clark, Travis McCurdy, and Brian Leimgruber.

ARSENIC AND OLD LACE

BY: JOSEPH KESSELRING

Drama club has faced major changes this fall. They started the year with a new director, Mr. Beebee, who came on board to put on the fall production. The North Baltimore Drama Club has always performed musicals in the spring, but Mr. Beebee pushed the students to try something new: a play. Arsenic and Old Lace is a popular play about two seemingly sweet old sisters who were known as saints but had a secret. They would let men into their home for lodging, and if they didn't have family or were lonely, the Brewster sisters would poison them with Elderberry wine. The sisters had three nephews. One of them Teddy, believed that he was Teddy Roosevelt. He dug locks in the cellar (thinking he was digging the Panama Canal), and the sisters would bury the bodies in them after a good christian service. Their other nephew was Mortimer, who was famous for his books about the wonderful life of a single man. Mortimer falls in love and gets married to Elaine Harper. Elaine's father is Reverend Harper, who thinks very highly of the Brewster sisters. Even the officers stop by just to visit them. But everything starts to unravel as their unfamiliar nephew, Jonathan and his friend, Dr. Einstein come to visit. Jonathan is a criminal who has been all over the world and has killed twelve people. Einstein is a plastic surgeon who changes Jonathan's face. Jonathan has never gotten along with his brother Mortimer, and came with plans to kill him. Jonathan figures out his aunt's secret, while Mortimer tries to cover up the mess. Officer O'Hara tells Mortimer about the play he is writing as the other cops rap up the case, and everyone has a surprise in the end.

ABOVE: Jessica Kyttle, Libby Julien, John Jackson, and Jared James all get together for a picture after Libby and Jessica get done doing Jared's make-up on opening night. They were all filled with jitters and excitement while waiting for their cue to go on stage.

In the opening of Arsenic and Old Lace, Drew DeWulf plays Reverend Harper, who has come to visit Martha (Libby Julien) and Abby Brewster (Caitria Clark) for tea to discuss plans for Teddy at the Happy Dale Sanitarium. Meanwhile Abby is hiding a dead man's body in the window seat.

Caitria Clark (Abby Brewster) and Jessica Kyttle (Officer Klein) smile for a picture after studying their lines for the first act of Arsenic and Old Lace.

Jared James, Kylan Clark, and Alex Hogan in the balcony folding the programs for Friday and Saturday night's production. They folded over three hundred programs all together.

Kevin Bean hangs out in the art room with the rest of the cast as he practices his lines for the last time before the curtain goes up on opening night.

Mr. Beebee hung trim on the painted walls while John Jackson worked on painting the stair railing. Mr. Julien painted the walls white, tan, and dark red, then smudged the colors together.

ABOVE: Mr. Witherspoon (Kylan Clark), the owner of Happy Dale Sanitarium, and Mr. Gibbs (Eli Coppock) pose while getting ready to go on stage.

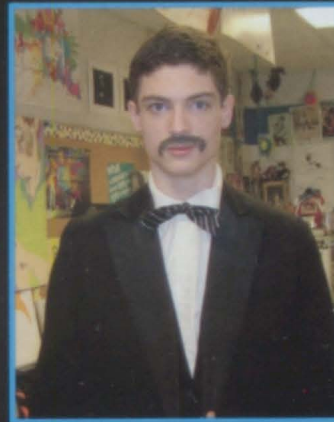

Mrs. Julien, Jenna Swartz, and Jocelyn Buchler help organize all the props. They also work on painting and decorating the stage.

ABOVE: A group of Officers from Arsenic and Old Lace did a little role playing at meet the cast on Saturday night. Kevin Bean plays Officer O'Hara who really wants to write a play. Jessica Kytte is Officer Klein, and her partner is Kali Findley, who plays Officer Brophy. The partners have to pick up the slack for O'Hara. Lieutenant Rooney is Jocelyn Buchler who has to keep everyone on track; a big task for one person.

BELOW: Samantha Austin reads her lines as she awaits her entrance in the first act. Sam plays Elaine Harper, who is the reverend's daughter. Elaine also falls in love with Mortimer Brewster, an author that wrote about being a single man.

ABOVE: Alex Hogan gets into character on opening night for the role of Teddy Brewster. Teddy believes that he is Teddy Roosevelt, and he gives orders to others like they are head officials.

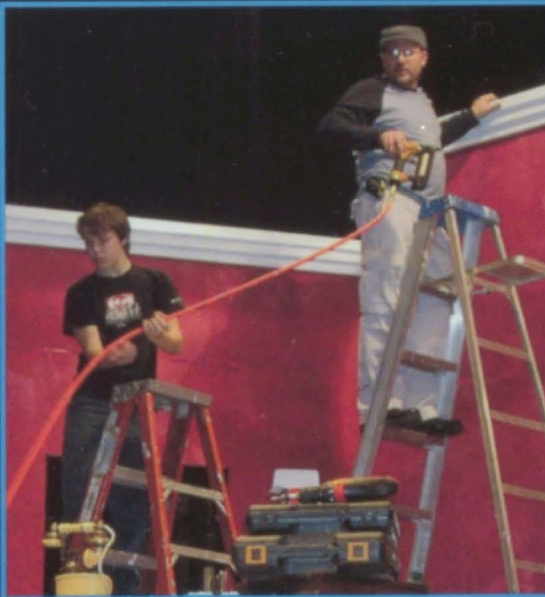

ABOVE: John Jackson gives the stair railing its final coat of white paint while Kathy Julien smudges the red, white, and tan paint on the wall.

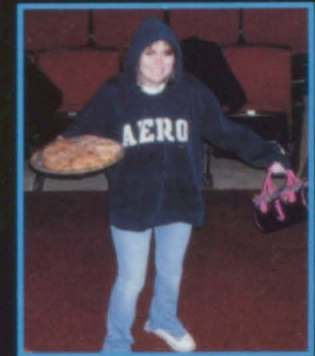

ABOVE: J.T. Sharninghouse cleans and adjusts the small chandelier that hung from the middle of the stage.

ABOVE: Dr. Einstein (J.T. Sharninghouse) and Jonathan Brewster (Jared James) go over a scene in the third act, where Mortimer Brewster (John Jackson) gets tied up. Einstein and Jonathan Brewster prepare to kill Mortimer after tying him up. The director, Mr. Beebee, shows the boys just where to put their hands and how to wrap the rope around Mortimer.

ABOVE: Drew DeWulf and Mr. Beebee work on the set on a Saturday night. The stage was filled with props, ladders, chairs, and other equipment needed to build the set and put on a play. Bowling Green State University was generous enough to let the crew borrow some antique furniture, a window wall, a chandelier, and a staircase.

ABOVE: Jessica Kytte brings in cookies on opening night. The audience got to meet the cast and have refreshments after the show, both Friday and Saturday night.

Spring

Spring, it is the same every year, right? The seniors say their good-byes, plan their graduation parties, and get their cap and gowns. Like every year, the rest of the students are forced to stay the extra week and listen to teachers talk about grades and take final exams. All of the students are ready for summer vacation. Yes, everything is the same. Except you got a little closer to this year's seniors than you did the last and maybe one of your closest friends is moving away. See every year isn't really the same. It can't be. This year was uniquely its own. This year brought new challenges, trials, and great memories for each student. So for spring, what a way to close the year.

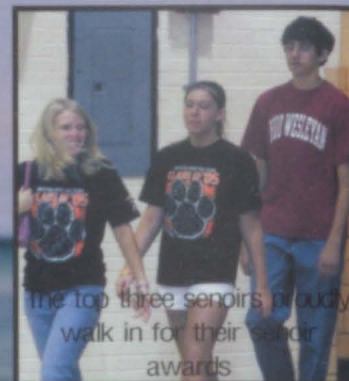

MAL Leadership sponsored a spring pep rally to support our spring athletes. Check our Mr. Zamudio kissing a pig on page 85. Student Council worked hard to change Academic Assist time. Next year we will meet before and after lunch with our AA teachers.

The academic, sports, and scholarships awards were a big success this year. All of the students nominated showed up to be inducted into National Honor Society and National Junior Honor Society.

What a big year for Seniors. Total value of this year's senior scholarships amounted to $173,975. Samantha Austin received $4,000; Cory Bateson received $500 from Masonic Scholarship-Morris Chapter 26; Sara Glamm received $5,050- $4,000 for the Ohio University Valedictorian Award ($1,000 per year); Vanessa Gazarek received $40,100- $20,000 for the Presidential Honors Scholarship ($5,000 per year), $20,000 athletic scholarship, and $100 from the MAL book scholarship; Jason McCurdy received $9,000- $6,000 from University of Northwestern Ohio; Drew North received $97,400; Amber Noykos received $700; Michelle Richardson received $3,850; Sabrina Snyder received $3,125; Kellie Sterling received $8,500; and Leonora VanRooijen received $1,750. Great job and best of luck to the entire graduating class of 2005.

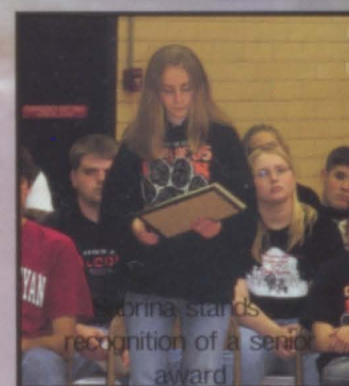

The new National Junior Honor Society members smile for parent pictures after being inducted.

The top three seniors proudly walk in for their senior awards.

Maissa and Bethany enjoy the smell of spring daisy.

Sabrina stands recognition of a senior award.

High School National Honor Society

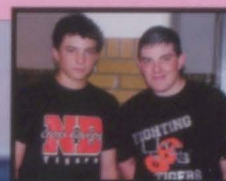

Audra Rensch loves spring because it is the start of new beginnings and the weather gets warm and the beautiful, flowers arrive.

Cassie Shope enjoys the not too hot not too cold weather that spring brings every year. Cassie also loves seeing all the flowers that grow around her.

Ella Houck hates the weather when it is too cold and she hates it when it is really hot so the spring weather is just perfect for her.

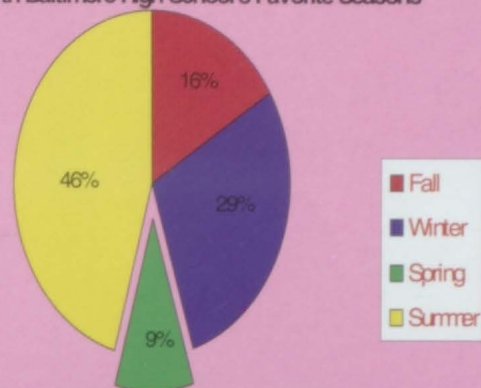

Troy Rayle and Jonathan Routzon agree that spring is the best season just because baseball season starts.

Publications students take a little time out of their busy schedule getting this book together to smell the flowers.

North Baltimore High School's Favorite Seasons

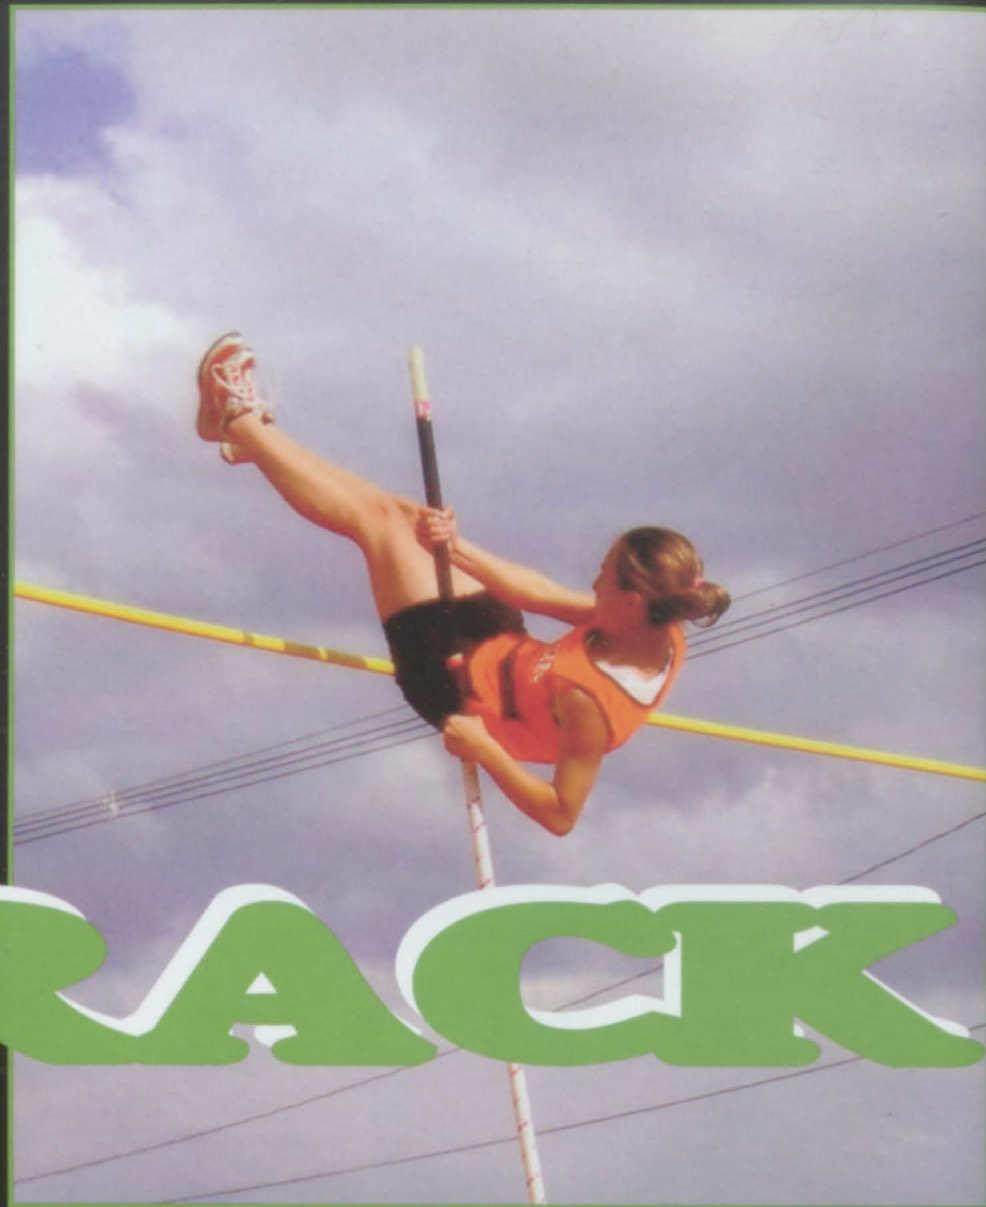

IN THE SPRING...

Varsity Track	74
Middle School Track	76
Varsity and JV Baseball	78
Varsity and JV Softball	80
Spring Play	82
Student Council	84
MAL Leadership	85
Prom	86
Seniors Section	88
Ads	104
Index	126

Beth Wheeler tries to break away from a Pilot runner in the 4x100 meter relay.

This years track season was unlike any other season. There were larger teams and more students competing in the events. Tyra Woodruff, a freshman and first year participant in the poll-vault, ended her season ranked 11th in the state. The track team finished the season with a lot of personal records. We cannot wait to see how great the team will be in the next couple of years with all the hard work they put in to this season.

Tyra Woodruff shows her form which took her to Regionals as a freshman.

TRACK

John Zeigler tries to out throw all of the upperclassmen as well as members of the opposing team in the discus competition.

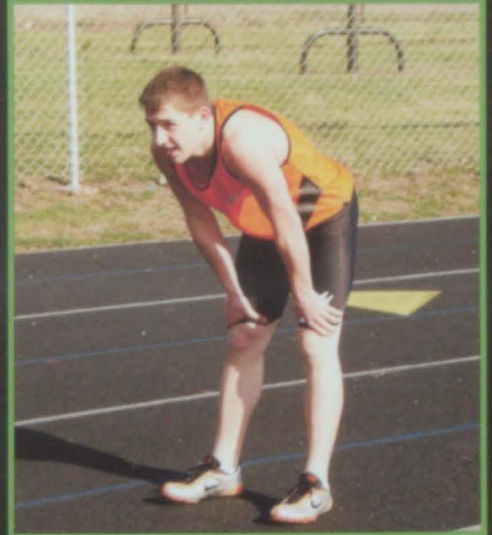

Tyler Simon shows just how much he loves to high jump by beating most of the other opponents that he was up against during the season.

Sarah Phillips takes the 4x800 meter relay in stride as she does her best to help keep her teams' spot in the race.

Matt DeVaul, with the look of determination, shows everyone how much he wants to win the race and to get points for the team.

Justin Carver said, "My favorite thing this year was messing around at the meets and Bull Riding Ziggy, (James Zeigler)."

Maddie Clark said, "I was really excited that our 4x800 meter relay team placed at MAL's. Great job guys!"

Girls MAL

4x800 8th place 12:55.87
4x200 8th place 2:00.7
4X100 8th place 56.49

District

300 m hurdles
8th place Barbra Hartman 53.75
Pole Vault
3rd place Tyra Woodruff 9'4"

Regional

Pole Vault
8th place Tyra Woodruff 9'8"

Boys MAL

High Jump
2nd place Tyler Simon 5'8"
7th place Alex Hogan 5'2"

Discus
3rd place Matt DeVaul 118'8"
6th place James Zeigler 107'

Long Jump
8th place Tyler Simon 17'5 3/4"

4x200
6th place 1:44.19

4x100
7th place 49.98

300 Hurdles
8th place Adam Emahiser 45.14

District

High Jump
5th place Tyler Simon 5'10"

Discus
8th place Matt DeVaul 123'7"

Kelsey Nigh runs her best and leaves the other girls in the dust.

James Zeigler, when asked what his favorite part of the season was, he answered, "Bull Riding!"

Barbra Hartman running the third leg of the 4x200 meter relay and giving her team her all.

Brent Smith and Rachel Mauk took on the role of coaching the boys' and girls' middle school track teams this spring. They worked hard to show the kids all of the techniques they needed to learn to be successful.

Three athletes placed in MAL's this year. Andy Dick competed in discus and shot put. Valerie Stearns ran the 200m hurdles. Gage Stewart took part in long jump. All three students represented their team well.

Valerie Stearns had a very thrilling track season. Valerie broke the 200m hurdles record, which was formally held by her coach Rachel.

The team had an exciting and fun season and they can not wait to participate in track next year.

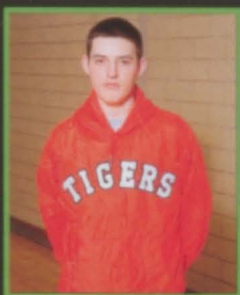

Treg Rensch leaps as far as he can for long jump at MAL's.

MS TRACK

Ben Phillips nervously awaits the gunshot so he can run past his opponents and get to his relay partner to pass the baton.

Jordan Eichar really liked working with the fun coaches and he loved wearing the wonderful uniforms.

Ariel Cohen had some pain this year from shin splints but she worked hard to work through the pain. Her favorite memory was placing second in the 400m run at one of the meets.

Chelsey Woodruff remembers how happy she was to come in first in the 200m. She also liked her coaches.

Kylen Clark didn't enjoy the track practices much, but Ky loved being at the meets. The season was a little painful for him because of his heel spurs.

